Veuve Clicquot

*Madame Clicquot was an audacious woman.
When her husband died in 1805, she took over the reins of the House at the age of just 27.*

Audacious, curious and innovative, Madame Clicquot was every bit as elegant, with an innate joy, optimism and delight that continue to be the driving force behind Veuve Clicquot today.

VEUVE CLICQUOT'S STORY

An aerial photograph of a vast vineyard with rows of green grapevines. A paved road winds through the center of the vineyard, curving from the top center towards the bottom right. The sky is a pale, hazy blue with soft, wispy clouds. On the left side of the page, there is a vertical orange line with several circular markers of varying sizes, some containing white dots.

1772 – VEUVE CLICQUOT, FROM REIMS TO THE WORLD

In 1772, Philippe Clicquot founded the Clicquot House with an ambitious and clear intention – to “cross the frontiers of the kingdom” and bring the delicacy of Champagne wines to the rest of the World.

The House’s story with the UK comes to life in 1778, with the House’s first shipment to England.

1810 – CREATION OF THE 1ST VINTAGE CHAMPAGNE

In 1810, Madame Clicquot proves her innovative prowess by creating the first recorded vintage champagne in the region.

1816 – INVENTION OF THE RIDDLING TABLE

Uncompromising when it came to the quality of her wines, and determined to pursue her motto, it is in 1816 that Madame Clicquot invented the riddling table, guaranteeing the creation of crystal-clear wine.

It is then that Madame Clicquot becomes known to her peers as “La Grande Dame” of Champagne.

1818 – CREATION OF THE FIRST ROSÉ CHAMPAGNE

Madame Clicquot's love for Pinot Noir grapes has long-lived within the Veuve Clicquot House. La Grande Dame believed that

“Our black grapes give the finest wines”

By blending some of her beloved Pinot Noir wines with her champagne, Madame Clicquot creates the first Rosé d'assemblage, breaking away from the tradition of adding an elderberry based preparation to create Rosé champagne.
