We all know it's sunshine in a glass.

We may typecast Rosé. But there's an intentional role for every bottle and every occasion.

It's a deliberate drink. Considered and complex.

Rosé for the champions of the classic.

Elevating any event.

THE CLASSIC THAT DREAMS BIG, BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL

It began in Reims in the 19th century, 1805 to be exact, when Madame Clicquot unexpectedly became a widow. At just 27 years old, she inherited the reins of the Veuve Clicquot House.

Along with it, the task of preserving her late husband's legacy, whose family founded the House in 1772. With a taste for excellence and an inventive spirit, she created the first recorded vintage champagne in 1810, and the very first blended Rosé in 1818.

Veuve Clicquot lives by Madame Clicquot's motto 'Only one quality, the finest' and the House continues to be shaped by Madame Clicquot's bold and rebellious feat. From harvest to the first sip of champagne, her passionate, creative legacy lives on in every glass.

SUCCESS AND GLAMOUR SINCE 1743

Claude Moët was a true pioneer. With tenacity and an entrepreneurial spirit, he took his champagne from its humble beginnings in 1743, all the way to the doors of the Royal Court of France and King Louis XV.

Then came his grandson, Jean-Rémy Moët. It was his dream to share the magic of champagne beyond the walls of Épernay. To delight the entire world with its classic and rich tastes. And delight it did. With the testing of new techniques, young Jean-Rémy created a delectable champagne — one that would soon garner renowned international fame and success.
